My friend comes from Canada. I would like to compare Spain's cuisines, languages and costumes with my friend's country because they are interesting.

The cuisines of my friend's country is similar from Spain. For example, the chorizo and poutine are similar. The costumes of my friend's country is different than in Spain. For example, the mantilla and Royal Canadian Mounted are different. The languages of my friend's country is different than in Spain. For example, the Spanish and English are different.

I would like to visit my friend's country because I would like to eat poutine and play hockey.
