Find the Tortoise

Yesterday, my teachers, Miss Ho, my classmate and I went to the country park by car to find the missing tortoise.

When we entered the country park, we stopped our car to find some clues and discuss it.

After half an hour, my classmate and I were tired so we decided to take a nap. But Miss Ho was reading the map because we didn't know where else we should find the tortoise.

After fifteen minutes, it started raining. Miss Ho couldn't see clearly because of the rain so our car crashed into the tree.

Finally, when the rain stopped, we got out of the car and went back to school. We all decided not to search it anymore that day. However, when we went to the tortoise's house, we found it there!

After checking the CCTV, we found out that when it started raining, the tortoise came back because it had nowhere to hide from the rain. It was a happy day!
