

Kevin Chau (5E)

21st April, 2021

Sunny

This morning, my dad went to work and I stayed at home with my cat. It was very hot today, so I turned on the air-conditioner to keep cool. Then, I played with my cat in the living room at eleven o'clock. I poured some orange juice and laid on the sofa.

At one o'clock in the afternoon, I got bored. I took out my mobile phone and played some games. My cat jumped onto the sofa too.

At one thirty, I poured myself a glass of orange juice because I was thirsty. After that, I wanted to listen to some music, so I turned on a record player with the orange juice on my hand. Sadly, I spilled the juice on the record player.

At night, my dad came home. I told dad about spilling the juice on the record player. 'You are so careless, Pinocchio,' said dad. 'I can buy a new record player but I want you to repair it with your pocket money. I want you to learn your lesson.'

'OK, dad,' I said.

I felt sad about losing my pocket money but I was proud of myself for being honest this time.