

Tom Wang (5E)

Yesterday, Macy went to a restaurant with her mom. 'Macy, there are two starters. Which one would you prefer?' asked Mom. Macy looked at the menu.

'I'd prefer the Buffalo wings to the garden salad,' Macy replied. Mom wanted the green salad, so they ordered two different kinds of starters.

Macy's mom was worried that the Buffalo wings would be too spicy for her, but Macy said she liked spicy food and would love to try the dish.

A few minutes later, the starters arrived. When Macy ate the Buffalo wings, she found that the dish was too spicy for her. 'Oh no! It is too spicy!' said Macy. Mom looked at her worriedly and asked, 'Are you alright? Do you want to change another starter?'

Finally, Mom reordered the starter for Macy because the wings were too spicy for her.