

I visited Uncle Tom's family in London last month. The next day, Uncle Tom took me and my cousin to Battersea Park. It was ten kilometres away from uncle's home. It was a wonderful place for outdoor activities. It took about twenty minutes to go to the park by train.

When we arrived at the park, Uncle Tom said to us, 'Children, you can either play on the slide in the playground or go on a tree top walk.' I looked up and saw people walking on ropes between trees. I did not want to go because I was very scared. My cousin encouraged me, 'Don't worry. This is my first time to try a tree top walk too. Let's play together.' She was as brave as a lion. I followed her and we completed the tree top walk happily. I had a great time in the park.
